In the Woman's World

(Copyrighted, July, 1916, by Beatriz Michelena.)

THE USEFULNESS of this "talk" must necessarily be limited to the few girls who may find an opportunity of availing themselves of the suggestion it carries.

It is this: If fortunate enough to secure a position as stenographer or otherwise in a motion picture studio, a girl may thus find an avenue by which she can eventually "break" into the acting end. As a matter of fact, a good many girls try this and some with success. In its final analysis, of course, it comes down, as always, to the question of whether or not the girl has the requisite talent.

It is a common occurrence for the office help in a great many of the big studios to be called out on the stage when there is an emergency demand for extra people in a scene. Some times a stenographer may become quite a prominent figure in a production, and if she photographs and acts well enough, the time will come when she will be graduated from the typewriter and permanently associated with the producing company. She will be in genuine intent a motion picture actress.

Of course the great disadvantage in this plan is the fact that motion picture studios use but a limited number of stenographers and consequently only a very few of the many girls who wish to become screen stars can

FROCKS FOR GIRLS

Frocks for quite young people have no waists. A loose belt descends many inches below the normal waistline. Such frocks are made in linen, pongee and various soft flannels and often have a horizontal band in white down the front, with buttons for fastening, and the belt is white also. Some have sailor collars of the same white fabric, ending in front in a large black satin bow without ends. Some of the little frocks of plain material, made on the same lines, show a little striped petticoat below.

Girls of that delightful age from 12 to 17 wear mostly plain skirts, bodices with narrow, all round basque, rather full white revers, a lace frill falling over a flounce of chiffon; the sleeves are all after the coat form and close fitting, sometimes set in a band.

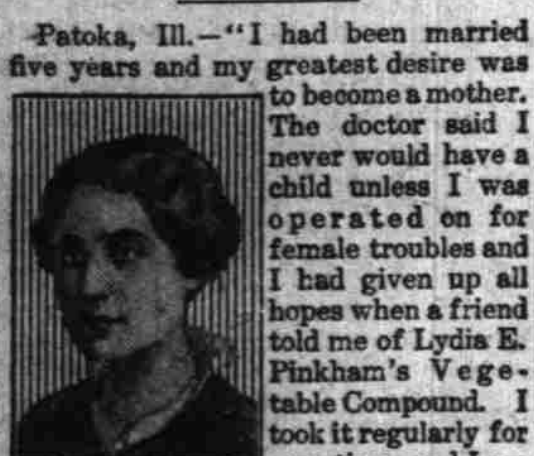

LIP SALVE

An excellent lip salve for ordinary use is the old fashioned camphor ice. Glycerin should not be used in any case. It has too great an affinity for water and is too drying, while the camphor ice is cooling and healing. In aggravated cases, after applying the latter for two or three nights, change to vaseline treatment and then, having reclaimed the lips so they have assumed their original smoothness and firmness, keep them in good condition by drying them properly and by keeping the tongue away from them.

If the dahlia stalks are cut back now, you will have better blooms later.

DESPAIRING WOMAN Now Happy Mother

Mrs. Stephens Did Not Need
The Surgical Operation.

Patoka, Ill.—"I had been married five years and my greatest desire was to become a mother. The doctor said I never would have a child unless I was operated on for female troubles and I had given up all hopes when a friend told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it regularly for some time, and I am in better health than ever, and have a healthy baby girl. I praise your Vegetable Compound for my baby and my better health. I want all suffering women to know that it is the sure road to health and happiness."—Mrs. GEORGE STEPHENS, R. F. D. No. 2, Patoka, Ill.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful in overcoming woman's ills because it contains the tonic, strengthening properties of good old fashioned roots and herbs, which act on the female organism. Women from all parts of the country are continually testifying to its strengthening, curative influence.

It has helped thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration.

BLACK SHOES AND STOCKINGS RARELY SEEN

For decades past the conservative woman has been shod all in black. A few years ago an exception was made in favor of tan for sport wear and rough weather wear. Then white was permitted entry as a summer competitor. But blues, reds, greens and violets—fashion held up hands of holy horror.

What a change has been wrought within a few months. Colored boots and pumps for street wear are so fashionable now that black footwear has become the exception with a formal costume. And with black boots have disappeared black stockings. The fashionable shade in hosiery this spring is pale gray—in a thread silk weave so fine that the flesh tone gleams through the gray. These delicate gray silk stockings have replaced in fashion's favor the champagne and tan tints worn last season. The boots match the costume, but it is not necessary for the stockings to do so, and the pale gray silk hose are worn with every kind of boot except white ones, which, of course, demand white hosiery.

SHORT SKIRTS SHOW SHOES TO ADVANTAGE

Hats, veils, shoes, parasols, dainty little collar and cuff sets and all the numerous other accessories which go to complete the costume are charmingly designed this season to fit smartly with a new silhouette and the general lines of the costume.

The manufacturers are loud in their praise of the short skirt vogue. In former years skirts have varied in width and trimming, but until this season have always remained at a conservative length. With the modish short skirt of the moment, smart, trim shoes are absolutely necessary to the general effect of the costume. The high laced boot of tan, brown, black or gray is popular with the tailored suit; for afternoons, with the light silk or the novelty cotton frock, the oldtime Colonial pump, with its huge buckle of silver or gun metal, is once more a low shoe favorite.

When the skin is sun scorched give it a milk bath.

A Beauty Exercise

THE WOMAN WHO IS SEEKING the surest way to beauty will choose the method of correct exercise. Creams are all right, as far as they go, tonics are well enough in some cases, but right living and proper exercising are the only ways to acquire, and keep, real beauty. The beauty-seeker, then, should find some system of exercises that agrees with her and stick to these.

This will give strength to internal organs, while reducing or building poor hips and abdomen

Some women find that a weekly Turkish bath will keep them from getting fat, will give them wonderful complexions, and regulate their digestions. Others find that gymnastics afford them the best way of exercising. Some women make a habit of walking a certain distance, others take up anything from gardening to golf, and use it for beauty and health.

Then there are women who have not the leisure for such systems. These will find certain exercises to be practised in their bedrooms, exercises that need not take more than fifteen minutes—including their bath.

Whatever system you adopt, include this one exercise—a general

THE SEPARATE SKIRT.

The separate skirt situation is rather an interesting one at the present time and it is causing no little wonder to decide just what is responsible for the growing popularity of this garment. It would be curious to suggest that economy prompts the designer to meet the increased demand in view of the fact that at no time have financial conditions been at so top notch a mark. It is fair to assume that the separate skirt has at last come into its own and instead of being confined to use for sport wear, of the office and very informal occasions, it is now to be worn on all occasions—informal and formal.

This is a most interesting state of affairs and will naturally seem at first to be an impossible suggestion; however, if one will analyze the statement it will be found that the separate skirt suggestion is not so serious a bugbear as one would judge. Very distinctive dressy skirts are shown developed in taffeta or faille, with smart distended hems. These are to be worn with soft frilly and lace trimmed bodices for afternoon or reception wear, in each some detail or color note being carried out in both skirt and bodice.

SOMETHING EVERY HUSBAND KNOWS

She may be your ray of sunshine
In this world of toil and strife;
She may be your shock absorber
On the rugged road of life;
You may find the seventh heaven
In the glory of her smile,
Yet, I'll bet she puts one over
On you every little while.
